NEVER AGAIN

In his first interview since losing his seat at the General Election, Bill Rammell tells the Star why he doesn't intend to stand for Parliament again

HARLOW'S former Labour MP Bill Rammell is calling time on his Parliamentary career following his defeat at the hands of Conservative Robert Halfon in this year's General Election.

Speaking to the Star this week for the first time since losing his seat to Mr Halfon in May, 50-year-old Mr Rammell said he felt he would be approaching his "sell-by date" by the time of the next election and had no desire to join the ranks of ageing MPs sitting in the House of Commons.

"I fought flat out to win again at the last General Election but when you lose you have to reflect on the future," said the former Armed Forces minister.

"I've been in politics for nearly 20 years and I've given my life and soul to the job and to the constituency.

"It's been an immense privilege to serve the people of Harlow and I hugely value the relationship and rapport that I've got with local residents and the unbelievably positive feedback I've had since the election.

"But I think this Parliament will run its full course of five years, by which time I'll be 55. You have to make a judgement as to whether the intense pressure is sustainable for you and your family and I've taken the decision that it's not."

Although he has yet to decide on a future career path, Mr Rammell said he would always remain an active member of the local Labour party. But he added it was time for a new candidate to spearhead the fight to wrestle control of the town back from the Conservatives.

"Because I've very much led from the front, at one level there's perhaps not been space for other potential Parliamentary candidates to come forward," he said.

"I would have a strong preference for someone local and I know there are a number of very good candidates

'It has been an immense privilege for me to serve the people of Harlow...'

within the party locally. This seat is eminently winnable at the next election."

Looking back over his 13-year tenure as Harlow MP, Mr Rammell said he hoped he would be remembered as assiduous, active and approachable.

"I had dealt with 18,000 individual cases by the time of the General Election and I've never, ever been unwilling to meet with anyone and try to deal with their problem," he added.

"Beyond that, I've been a real advocate and champion of the town and particularly a champion of regeneration. The new Leisurezone and the redevelopment of Town Centre South are two things I'm really proud to have played key roles in delivering."

Asked whether he had any regrets about his time in office, Mr Rammell spoke frankly about the expenses scandal that rocked Westminster last year.

"I do hugely regret that all of us of all political parties didn't change the expenses system," he said.

"Although relatively speaking my expense claim record was low and I was very much at the bottom end of claimants, I nevertheless acknowledge that it was an out-of-date system that should have been changed much sooner. I do genuinely regret that."

On the future of the Labour Party and the looming leadership contest, Mr Rammell pledged his support for David Milliband and said it was imperative the party adapted and responded to the times.

"I think he's the brightest politician intellectually that I've ever worked with. He's got incredibly good communication skills and he's the one candidate I can most easily imagine as the next Labour prime minister."

"But whoever is successful, there are parts of the New Labour project that we will have to rethink and change. For example, we need to be much tougher in terms of regulation on the banks and the City and I think we need to make clear that while business has a voice at the table it cannot be the overwhelming voice."

"I think we'll see an evolution within the Labour Party but I don't want us to go back to the days where we were perceived, rightly or wrongly, as being against people getting on in life."

Drugs needles left on school playing fields

THE headteacher of a primary school in Harlow has sought to reassure parents after drugs paraphernalia was discovered on the school's playing field.

Syringes, foils and a spoon were found by children playing on the field at Abbotswold Primary School during the past two weeks, sparking concern among parents.

One parent-of-two pupils at the school in Partridge Road said: "Our children have come home and told us that they have found dirty needles on the school playing field – and yet the school allows them to continue to play on the field."

"We are obviously extremely concerned and don't think the children

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexsexnews.co.uk should be allowed to play there if there is a possibility that there are drug needles there."

This week parents received a letter from headteacher Lesley Lynn in an attempt to allay their concerns.

Yesterday (Wednesday) she told the Star: "Empty syringes, foils and a spoon were found on the playing field."

"To ensure the safety of all pupils and staff at the school, the field is being inspected regularly to check for any objects which could cause harm."

Another parent said that the fence separating the school from a public footpath – known locally as the "black run" – had gaps in it and was providing a possible access point for drug users.

In an email sent to one concerned parent by Harlow councillor Joel Charles, he said it had also been reported to him that children had been playing with drugs paraphernalia along the path.

"I immediately directed council officers to investigate this matter," he said. "Five officers searched the black run and found no drugs paraphernalia."

"If residents find such paraphernalia in the future they should call Contact Harlow straight away and either council officers or Kier Harlow will investigate."

Councillor Charles said he had passed on concerns to the town's representatives on Essex County Council, the local education authority.

Catering students taste success

STUDENTS in Harlow College's hospitality and catering department are toasting its best ever National Diploma results after all those on the course gained triple distinctions.

Alison Armitage, assistant academy manager for hospitality and culinary arts at the college, said: "This is a fantastic set of results. These students and staff have worked feverishly at securing these remarkable grades and we are all absolutely delighted."

Each student in the group achieved at least two grades higher than their original projections which were based on their GCSE grades at school.

They have all now secured jobs or are going to continue their studies at the college or university. "The college's reputation for training chefs has really been building and our students are in demand," said Ms Armitage.

College principal Colin Hindmarch said: "I'm delighted for both the students and the staff. This is a great achievement and it's mirrored in other parts of the college; we really are going from strength to strength."

Magistrates courts could face the axe

MAGISTRATES courts in Harlow and Epping could be axed as part of cost-cutting measures proposed by the Ministry of Justice.

Both courthouses are among 103 identified by the MoJ as underused and inadequate.

Justice Secretary Ken Clarke said modern technology meant there was no longer a need to provide a courthouse in every town or city.

The proposed closures would save the Government at least £15m a year in running costs and an extra £22m in building maintenance fees.

If both Harlow and Epping courts are closed, the nearest court in Essex would be at Chelmsford.

But courts minister Jonathan Djanogly said: "We should not think about access to justice as simply a question of length of the journey to the nearest court."

"In the future we need to look at whether, through the more effective use of video and telephone links and other technology including online services, we can improve the public's experience of the justice system."

And he added: "When public finances are under pressure, it is vital to eliminate waste and reduce costs."

Motorcyclist killed

A MOTORCYCLIST from Harlow has died after he was involved in a road accident in Chelmsford on Tuesday evening.

Steven Martin (29), of Greygoose Park, was riding the Suzuki motorcycle when he was in collision with a taxi on the A1060 Roxwell Road near to Newland Hall.

The taxi was being driven by a 40-year-old man from Sawbridgeworth, who was uninjured.

Victim of violent assault in stable condition

POLICE are appealing for information about a violent assault in Harlow which left a man needing hospital treatment.

The attack happened after the 23-year-old victim was followed by a group of young men along several footpaths and roads at around 7:30pm on Sunday.

He had set off from the Archers Dart pub in Tendring Road and walked along Abercrombie Way and the cycle track off Linford End where he was struck several times by the group of men who had been following him.

Police believe he may have also been hit earlier as he tried to get away from the group.

The man, who lives locally, was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where his condition yesterday (Wednesday) was described as stable.

Anyone with information about the attack should contact Harlow police on 0300 333 4444.

PAH to pilot new neonatal service

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW specialist support service which will enable sick and premature babies to be cared for at home is being launched in Harlow this month.

The Neonatal Community Service will allow parents to take tots born as Princess Alexandra Hospital earlier than usual while still ensuring they receive expert care and support.

The hospital has been working closely with NHS West Essex to develop the service which will initially run as a nine-month pilot scheme.

Two expert neonatal nurses will offer care and support to families with babies born prematurely, have a low birth weight or are suffering a long-term problem but are well enough to be looked after at home.

The service will also be offered parents whose babies have been cared for in the neonatal units of other hospitals.

Wendy Matthews, PAH's associate director of women's and children's services, said: "The service will provide a seamless transition of care from the hospital neonatal unit to home, allowing for early discharge from hospital so that the baby can be cared for at home.

"Once the baby is at home, the nurses will support parents and families with regular home visits and telephone contact to suit each family's individual needs."

Staff at hospital maternity unit back 'breast is best' campaign

STAFF at Princess Alexandra Hospital's maternity unit marked National Breastfeeding Week with a tea and cake sale on Friday.

It was just one of several events organised across the town over the course of the week to raise awareness of the benefits of breastfeeding.

All the money raised from the sale will be put towards the purchase of breastfeeding teaching aids to help new mums make a more informed choice about how best to feed their babies.

Corinne Neville, infant feeding midwife at PAH, said: "A recent national survey showed that 78 per cent of mothers in England breastfed their babies at birth, but at six weeks the number was down to 50 per cent.

"The figures for west Essex are 70 per cent and 35 per cent respectively.

"At Princess Alexandra Hospital we are working hard to change this. This includes support groups for new mothers and ongoing education for all maternity staff."

Family tribute to road crash cyclist

THE family of an elderly cyclist who suffered fatal injuries in a road accident in Epping have paid tribute to their "fantastic husband, father and grandfather".

Brian Ward (70), from Ongar, died at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital following a collision with a van in Houlbolls Hill last Thursday.

The van driver, who comes from Harlow, was uninjured. This week his widow, Barbara, said: "We have lost a fantastic husband, father and grandfather. He was so gentle and kind and his energy and enthusiasm touched many people.

"We can draw comfort from the fact that he died doing something that he truly loved, cycling along the Essex lanes on a beautiful sunny day with his friends.

"We have so many wonderful memories of him and he will always be in our hearts. He will be sorely missed."

Police have appealed for witnesses to the collision to contact investigating officers at the Chigwell Road Policing Unit on 0300 333 4444.

Letters to The Editor

Foul language at schools sports left me speechless

SIR, As a parent with three children at primary school I was shocked, as were my wife and a number of other parents and grandparents, at the use of extremely foul language at a recent Harlow schools rounders tournament we attended.

I understand the tensions and urge to win, together with the need to support children in sport. Whilst I appreciate bad language is used, it is unacceptable in such a situation and especially for a parent to do so in front of small children.

During recent years such behaviour has been highlighted as unacceptable and greatly reduced among supporters in team sports like soccer and rugby, as well as individual sports.

Such behaviour and lack of self control is what lets down Harlow, its schools and children.

As a parent and a school governor, I believe we should have a zero tolerance for this in children and the least we should expect is the same from parents.

Stephen Dodd
Bellfield Gardens, Harlow

A backward step for local justice

SIR, It was with some shock and amazement that I read the Ministry of Justice is considering closing Harlow and Epping magistrates courts, as well as the Harlow County Court.

Yet, at the same time, Minister for Justice Kenneth Clarke states: "I will ensure that we keep courts in the most strategically important locations, communities will continue to have access to courts within a reasonable travelling distance."

Surely a town of some 80,000 people must have some strategic importance.

What's next from new Robin Hood?

SIR, Our MP has to defend the Government's budget but to call it a "Robin Hood" budget is laughable (Star, June 24).

The increase in VAT is pure Sheriff of Nottingham but in this case it is George Osborne, who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth.

What is next on 'Robin Hood's' list? Bus passes, winter fuel payments, free TV licences for the over-75s?

And let's not forget his Merry Men, the Liberal Democrats, who are happy to raid the poor.

Raymond Budd
Hull Grove, Harlow

Thank you all for your generosity

SIR, Many of your readers will have noticed Harlow, Old Harlow and Loughton firefighters pulling a fire engine around Harlow last Saturday.

The reason they went to so much effort was for little Rae White. Rae is two years old and is suffering from Spinal Muscular Atrophy, a condition which has no known cure or treatment.

It was bought to the firefighters' notice that Rae needs a motorised wheelchair to improve her quality of life, so they set themselves a challenge to assist in obtaining it for her.

A huge number of Harlow residents, both motorists and pedestrians, stopped to give their loose change and, in some cases, notes to a very worthy cause. I wanted to take this opportunity, through the Star, to thank them for their compassion and generosity.

Don't turn Town Park into a dump

SIR, Summer is here and I have noticed how lazy the public are.

I live close to the Town Park and every weekend, while out walking my dogs, I see the amount of rubbish – even broken glass bottles – that is left behind after people have had their picnics.

I know the council has limited the amount of bins around the park so why can't people take their rubbish home.

I always pick up the mess left by my dogs and dispose of it in the appropriate bins, so why can't the general public do the same and take away their rubbish and dispose of it.

Please appreciate the only decent green belt we have in Harlow.

You are never too old to learn

SIR, Thanks to the thoughtfulness of the headteacher, tutors and staff of Passmores School and Technical College, many elderly people, (some in their eighties) have been able to go back to school to learn and to meet others of similar age.

Earlier this month the Surfers Coffee Club held a coffee morning with examples of the work that members had done. People could look at work done by the students and there was a tombola which raised money for the Little Havens Children's Hospice.

People who have been attending have been able to learn about computers and for at least a few hours each week they could meet and talk to other people similar to themselves instead of staying at home feeling lonely and unwanted.

I hope this idea will grow in Harlow to help the elderly.

Man jailed for having sex with 14-year-old

A PAEDOPHILE who groomed and then had sex with a 14-year-old girl from Harlow on three separate occasions has been jailed for four years.

Steven Martin (24), an IT technician from the Bretton area of Peterborough, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court on Thursday to charges of sexual activity with the teenager.

Richard Scott, prosecuting, told the court Martin first met the girl in April 2008 and then began exchanging texts and telephone calls with her.

The girl's parents became concerned about the developing relationship which caused a considerable strain between them and their daughter.

In October last year the girl complained to police that Martin was harassing her and in November she claimed he had raped her, an allegation she later withdrew. However, she told police she had consensual sex with him three times.

Although unable to give specific dates, she said that one occasion she was at Martin's home while his parents were on holiday and the others were at his friends' homes. At the time of the offences she was aged 14.

Clare Ashcroft, representing Martin, said in mitigation he accepted responsibility for his actions, adding: "However complicit she was, she was only 14 and he accepts that what he did was wrong."

She described him as intelligent but emotionally immature in terms of relationships. "His experience of the outside world is fairly limited," she said.

Passing sentence, judge Rodger Hayward Smith told Martin: "There was substantial grooming of the girl. You went to considerable lengths to groom her and at one point were sending her up to 50 text messages a day."

"Whether or not she was a willing recipient is neither here nor there. The fact is she was a child and you were an adult."

The judge said Martin would have to keep police informed of his address for the remainder of his life and said he would be barred from working with children. He also made a prevention order banning Martin from contacting the girl until June 2015.

Swim pool land sold for housing

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

WORK could start soon on the next phase of the multi-million pound Gateway Project following the sale of the Harlow Pool site to developers.

New owners Croudace want to build homes on the land in First Avenue plot and a planning application for a complete overhaul of the site is expected to be submitted to Harlow Council in the next few months.

The announcement comes just weeks after the completion of the town's new Leisurezone sports complex. The council has been trying to sell the land to developers since the pool was closed down amid health and safety concerns in November 2007.

Council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star: "This is another significant step forward for the Gateway Project and for Harlow and brings us closer to providing important new homes in the town."

The exact number of properties has not yet been revealed, although draft proposals for the Gateway Project drawn up in 2005 indicated a total of 60.

Harlow Civic Society, which serves as a guardian of the town's heritage, has previously criticised the sale of the pool site to private developers but this week vice-chairman John Curry said there was "no point in trying to turn the clock back".

"We hope that Croudace, Harlow Council and the other partner agencies involved with the project will ensure the new housing development is well-designed and takes into account the fact that Harlow desperately needs family homes and not more flats," he said.

"The area is one of the main pedestrian entrances to the Town Park so we will be particularly interested to see how the developers propose to maintain this important public access point."

The site, which comprises the empty pool building and adjacent car park, will be secured while demolition and building work takes place, meaning pedestrian access to the Town Park will be temporarily re-routed and parking suspended.

Alternative parking is available in the Greyhound car park in School Lane. Maps showing alternative pedestrian access to the park and the paddling pool, which will remain open throughout the summer, will be placed around the site.

Leisurezone evacuated after alarm is sounded

VISITORS to Harlow's newly-opened Leisurezone had to evacuate the building on Sunday after a fire alarm was set off.

Up to 100 people, including adults and children in swimwear, were forced to wait outside on the hottest day of the year after the alarm was tripped at 1.15pm

"We were all shepherded out, not through the fire exits but through the front door," said one woman. "Then we were just left hanging around in front of the building. "After 10 minutes we were moved to the correct assembly point where staff already were. There was very, very little information as to what was actually happening."

"It wasn't for another 30 minutes before we were let back in. It was lucky it was not in December or some of us could've come down with hypothermia!"

Fire crews did not attend the incident. It is believed the alarm was set off by a visitor to the centre.

The Star approached the Leisurezone for comment but had not received a reply by the time we went to press.

Probe into buildings blaze

INVESTIGATORS are trying to establish the cause of a fire in a number of outbuildings in North Weald on Monday evening.

Fire crews from Harlow, Old Harlow, Epping and Ongar were sent to deal with the blaze in Weald Bridge Road at 5.30pm.

They used two hose reels and two jets to extinguish the flames and then damp down the area.

The fire service and police are now carrying out an investigation to establish how it started.

Chairman Sue gives charities a helping hand

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TWO groups working in the field of entertainment are being championed by Harlow Council's new chairman during her year in office.

Councillor Sue Livings has chosen Razed Roof and the Laughter Specialists as the charities which will benefit from fundraising activities and donations to the chairman's charity fund.

Razed Roof, which is based at Harlow Playhouse, is a performing arts group for both able-bodied and disabled people, providing them with skills, training and opportunities to perform in public and helping them to develop self-confidence.

Up to 40 adults with learning difficulties and disabilities and young people from mainstream education work together every Thursday with the support of an experienced team of staff.

Essex-based Laughter Specialists are entertainers specially trained in bringing fun and laughter to the sick and vulnerable.

They dress up as clown doctors and play and use comedy, magic, songs, music and puppets to entertain sick children, youngsters with special needs and vulnerable adults.

They work in hospitals – including Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital – hospices, special needs centres and schools.

"Both charities do so much for people that I wanted to use my year in office to raise money and awareness of the work they do," said Mrs Livings.

"Razed Roof help to widen participation in the performing arts for people with disabilities and learning difficulties and put on fantastic local performances.

"The Laughter Specialists aren't as well known but their work is vital in making a difference to people who are in or facing difficult times. A laugh can brighten up someone's day and this is exactly what the Laughter Specialists do."

One of the first fundraising events planned by Mrs Livings is a charity golf day. Anyone who wishes to help with fundraising activities should contact Joan McGregor on (01279) 446001.

Mum hopes Africa trek will raise profile of eye condition

A HARLOW woman will be walking across Namibia in September to raise money and awareness of a little-known condition that has affected her son's sight.

Angie Roberts has already raised £4,000 for the British Retinitis Pigmentosa Society. Yesterday (Wednesday) she was presented with a cheque for £400 from Church Langley Primary School.

Angie's son Alex (21) was diagnosed with the condition that affects his peripheral vision when he was a youngster but in the past year or so it has deteriorated.

"Unlike conditions like glaucoma, retinitis pigmentosa is not well known and doesn't get any money from the Government," said Angie, of Spencers Croft.

"So as well as raising money, I want to raise awareness of the condition. My son can appear drunk, accident prone or even rude to people who don't know about it.

"Maybe someone will go to shake his hand and he will ignore them because he cannot see them. He's not being rude at all." From September 11-22, Angie will be walking around 18 miles a day across Namibia. She will also spend time helping to build a school.

Anyone wanting to sponsor her should visit her website www.justgiving.com/Angela-Roberts0 or email her at angie.r.1967@hotmail.com.

Savings scheme falls victim to budget savings

A SAVINGS and loans co-operative in Harlow will no longer be able to provide a savings scheme after it was axed by the Government.

Harlowsave Credit Union would have run the Savings Gateway scheme which was designed to encourage people on low incomes to save.

Under the scheme the government would have given £300 to those taking part who saved £25 a month for two years. However, it was scrapped by Chancellor George Osborne in last week's emergency budget HCU spokeswoman Jenny Smith said: "It is sad for our members that they were in no way responsible for the economic crisis but have felt the aftershock."

The Wych Elm-based credit union is an organisation that encourages people only to take out loans they can afford.

"At times people need to take out a loan," said Mrs Smith. "After all, we all have our emergencies or need a holiday."

"The difference at Harlowsave is that we first want to help and secondly do not want people to get further and further into debt because they cannot afford repayments."

Pair posed as police officers to kidnap and terrorise ex gang member

TWO gangland enforcers who posed as police officers and put a man through a terrifying ordeal have been jailed for a total of 10 years. Joseph Cook was abducted, beaten and shot with a stun gun after Matthew Parr and Adam Woolf called at his home to settle a debt.

They turned up at the haulier's house claiming to be officers from the Serious Organised Crime Agency. The frightened 58-year-old was told he was being arrested for cigarette smuggling and immediately handcuffed him while ignoring his request to see some ID.

He was bundled into the back of a car and driven 100 yards before being dumped at the roadside. He was left with two black eyes and a bleeding nose.

Parr (38), of Davenport, Harlow, and Woolf (26), of Bishop's Stortford, both admitted kidnap, assault and possessing an illegal stun gun.

Gordon Aspden, prosecuting, told Lincoln Crown Court that during the short journey Mr Cook was repeatedly punched in the face and shot at point blank range with a taser gun.

He said Parr and Woolf, along with a third man who has never been traced, were sent to enforce a debt owed by Mr Cook to a Newcastle-based organised crime group who were demanding £135,000 from him.

The debt was passed on to another gang in Essex who sent the three men to see Mr Cook in June 2009. He had been working for the Newcastle gang but was blamed for the loss of two lorry loads of cigarettes seized by the authorities.

Charles Sherrard, representing Parr, said in mitigation his client was the driver of the car and did not administer any violence.

"Both Parr and Woolf had no proprietary interest in the debt in this case," said Mr Sherrard. "Parr was asked to pay a visit to Mr Cook. There was a third party with them and it was he who brought along the stungun and the outfits."

He said Parr could not be described as a career criminal as his last conviction was five years ago for shoplifting.

Craig Rush, representing Woolf, said of his client: "He thought his role would be simply to stand around and look menacing."

But passing sentence, judge Michael Heath told them: "These offences were pre-meditated and well planned. It was professional."

"There were the aggravating features of the fact that you were disguised as police officers and that a stun gun was produced and used."

Residents work hard to transform garden

A GROUP of green-fingered residents living in a sheltered housing scheme have transformed their dilapidated garden into a stunning new community area.

The quadrangle at Halyday House, in Hull Grove, Harlow, was unkempt and uncared for until the retired residents decided to take action themselves last year.

"We had a nice garden but it had been neglected and overgrown," said resident John Thatcher. "The plants were left to rot and no one used it except for dogs and cats."

"We decided that something had to be done about it so with the help of local councillor Lee Dangerfield we set up a residents' association."

The association then applied for funding from Harlow Council to redesign and renovate the quadrangle, which sits in the middle of the 37-flat complex.

By DAN PHILLIPS

presented plans

but there wasn't enough money to do what we wanted so we told Kier Harlow [Harlow Council's maintenance contractor] to do what they could with the money and we would do the rest," said Mr Thatcher, who is also the association's chairman.

"So that's what we did. Kier cleared the site and laid down the paving slabs and we did everything else with some help."

Harlow Council provided £13,000 for the initial landscaping and paving while the association raised £1,000 for the flower beds and hanging baskets.

The residents completed most of the soft landscaping themselves with the help of friends and family.

A further £500 from the council paid for some plants from Matthews Plants, while the electric systems were provided by Harlow supplier KR Electrical.

The upkeep of the quadrangle is now the responsibility of the association. It has been in use regularly since the residents celebrated Ladies' Day at Ascot last month.

"There has been no one person behind the project," said Mr Thatcher. "We have done it as a group and it's brought us together as a community."

Teacher in a class of his own as slimming champ

ALTHOUGH England have been dumped out of the World Cup, one Harlow man is celebrating achieving his own personal goal.

Teacher Matthew Klimcke (34), of Hookfield, has been named Harlow's Slimming World Man of the Year after shedding a massive 7st 5lbs in just 27 weeks.

Matthew joined the Slimming World group at Tye Green Community Centre when he realised he was paying the penalty for his weight.

In August last year he bought a suit the week before he left for a cruise but on his last night aboard he could not do it up after he had gained approximately 1st 7lbs during two weeks at sea.

He has now dropped six trouser sizes and lost 14 inches from his waist.

"I can honestly say I feel like a different man since I lost the weight," said Matthew. "I feel on top of the world. For 27 weeks I lost weight and won Slimmer of the Week no less than 10 times."

"As a teacher I feel I play a pivotal role in society and I take my job seriously. When I was overweight I felt hypocritical telling children how to eat healthily and exercise more when I wasn't doing any of those things."

"Now I am confident, happy and full of energy. I feel that I can talk to children with conviction about the importance of having a balanced and varied diet and what being healthy really means."

Matthew lost weight by following Slimming World's food optimising eating plan, which is popular with men because they can eat hearty meals and still lose weight.

"I could barely walk up a flight of stairs in August 2009 without feeling out of breath but now I run regularly and have completed two 10k and two 5k runs in a week," he said.

Slimming World consultant Lesley Zano said: "Matthew is amazing and a fabulous member to have in class as he inspires everybody."

"The obesity crisis doesn't just affect women. In fact there are more overweight men than women and here in Harlow alone there are so many men who would feel better and fitter for losing even just a bit of weight."

Matthew could now go through to the semi-finals of the national contest which will be held at Slimming World's head office in Derbyshire on Tuesday.

CCTV filmed flytipper as he dumped waste at flats

A FLYTIPPER drove to Harlow to dump his household waste outside a block of flats, magistrates heard.

David Branch (50), of Temple Mead, Roydon, pleaded guilty to three counts at Harlow Court on Friday after being prosecuted under the Environmental Protection Act.

The court was told Branch used a works van to drive to Harlow and leave his domestic waste in the communal waste bin area at Edmunds Tower. He was caught when he was seen by a member of the public who contacted Harlow Council.

Council officials were then able to gain evidence using covert CCTV equipment to bring a successful prosecution at court.

Branch was ordered to pay the council's costs of £1,065 and was given a 12 month conditional discharge.

Councillor Joel Charles, chairman of the community & citizenship working group, said after the case: "This is a great result for the council in our crusade to clean up Harlow. It was completely wrong of Mr Branch to dump his household rubbish in someone else's bin area.

"It costs thousands of pounds to keep communal areas clean. Waste and recycling facilities are also funded by Harlow Council taxpayers and so are the clean-up costs.

"We will take action against flytippers and thanks to a vigilant member of public we were able to do something about these incidents."

Tory peer starts challenge over expenses trial

THE former Conservative leader of Essex County Council has begun an appeal against a ruling that he should stand trial over allegations he dishonestly claimed expenses.

Lord Hanningfield, along with former Labour MPs David Chaytor, Jim Devine and Elliot Morley, all deny charges of false accounting.

A judge ruled earlier this month they could not use Parliamentary privilege to stop the prosecution.

The Court of Appeal has lifted reporting restrictions on the grounds that it is an issue of constitutional proportions.

Housebuilder doubles its new homes discount to Armed Forces personnel

A LEADING housebuilder is doing its bit to support British troops by doubling the discount it offers to servicemen and women when they buy a new home.

Anyone who has served in the Army, Navy or RAF can now take advantage of a £1,000 reduction off every £25,000 on the cost of a new home at Barratt's Fifth Avenue housing development in Harlow.

Chris Scarborough, sales director at Barratt North London, said: "As a company, we have over the years helped many people who have served in the Armed Forces move into a great new home,

"By doubling the discount we offer to the military we hope we can help many more of these courageous men and women save money when they buy a property."

Full details of the scheme are on the website at www.barratthomes.co.uk/fifthavenue.

New sculptures enhance town's reputation for art

HARLOW'S reputation as the world's first designated sculpture town received a further boost on Friday when two more works were unveiled at the Newhall housing development.

The two pieces – Sophrosyne I by Ekkehard Altenburger and Methuselah by Nick Turvey – are the latest additions to Harlow's sculpture collection which includes works by major artists such as August Rodin, Barbara Hepworth and Henry Moore.

The latest works were commissioned by the Harlow Art Trust and Newhall developers William Moen in memory of Lady Patricia Gibberd, the late wife of Harlow masterplanner Sir Frederick.

Among those invited to the unveiling ceremony were the two artists and Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

Arts trust chairman Will Rea said: "We felt we needed something that marked Patricia Gibberd's engagement with sculpture in Harlow."

A MALE nurse who sexually assaulted a pregnant woman at Princess Alexandra Hospital has been jailed for 12 months.

Milind Sanade (34) pinched and twisted the 21-year-old's nipples under the guise of checking for breast cancer, Chelmsford Crown Court heard.

The incident took place on February 4 in one of the wards where Sanade was looking after nine patients.

He had gone into a side room where the victim was alone and committed two offences of indecent assault. He then warned her not to tell anyone what he had done or he would report her for smoking.

Sanade also amended the hospital records to cover any complaint by her against him by suggesting she could not be believed, the court was told.

Sanade, from Chelmsford, pleaded guilty to indecent assault.

As well as being jailed, Sanade was made the subject of an indefinite sexual offences prevention order banning him from working, even voluntarily, in the care of a person. He will also remain on the sex offenders register for 10 years.

Samantha Lowther, prosecuting, said the victim was admitted to the hospital with stomach pains and was told to wait in a side room.

Sanade went in to the room and asked her to remove her covers and lift her pink top, telling her: "I just need to check your body."

He touched her stomach and asked

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

her to sit up, whereupon he asked her to lift her top to reveal her breasts.

Ms Lowther said: "He sat on the bed, cupped her breasts and moved his hands around, pinched and twisted her nipples and started to feel underneath."

The court was told Sanade had previously been cautioned by police for pinching the nose of a 74-year-old male patient.

Alex Woods, representing Sanade, said in mitigation he was a religious man with a wife and two children. He was ashamed of his actions but had "sexual proclivities".

But judge Anthony Goldstaub told the defendant he was guilty of "an outrageous breach of trust, gross abuse of a patient, exploitation of a vulnerable person and affront to the good standing of nurses and doctors."

"You were neglecting other patients while you dallied with this victim," the judge told him. "You took half an hour planning and reflecting, went in to see her on her own and invited her to have an examination, exposed her breasts and stomach and touched her breasts."

"You ran your hands over her saying you wanted to examine her for breast cancer but it was for sexual gratification. Then you made entries into the hospital records that she could not be believed and threatened to report her for smoking if she spoke about it."

Hymn that went down in history

THE seminal hymn Nearer, My God, To Thee will forever be associated with the sinking of the Titanic almost 100 years ago.

However, what is not as well known is the story of the woman who wrote those words – Harlow-born poet Sarah Flower Adams, above right.

These days the only evidence that she lived in the town are a family grave in Foster Street and a blue plaque in High Street, Old Harlow which marks the place of her birth.

The tragic events of April 15, 1912 – when the ‘unsinkable’ cruise liner struck an iceberg in the north Atlantic – are well documented. The impact breached the ship’s hull and sea water flooded in.

After just a few hours the Titanic sank to its watery grave, claiming the lives of 1,523 passengers and crew.

Legend has it that the hymn was the last to be played by the ship’s musicians when they realised their fate. According to the history book The Deathless Story of the Titanic, the band played the “hymn of faith and pleading” until they were waist high in water.

The music and words were printed in full on the front page of The Daily Mirror as the tragic news

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

emerged in the days after the catastrophe.

Not much is known about Sarah Flower Adams’ early life in Harlow, but it is possible to imagine that her talent was perhaps born out of this time.

Born in 1805, she lived in the town until her family moved to Dalston in east London when she was 15.

She was the younger daughter of Benjamin Flower, a well connected editor and proprietor of The Cambridge Intelligencer.

According to a memoir of the poet by HW Stephenson, it was likely that he was acquainted with the poet Samuel Taylor Coleridge, who wrote The Rime of The Ancient Mariner.

Sarah’s life was touched with tragedy as she lost an infant brother and then her mother, Eliza, when she was just five.

Stephenson speculates that her parents were earnest and serious and affection was not allowed to interfere with discipline. And yet, even at the age of two, she showed a keen interest in the world during a visit to nearby Bishop’s Stortford.

“In the little town of Stortford she was entranced by the shops and only with difficulty persuaded to pass from one to another,” writes Stephenson.

Very little else is known about this time and we can only speculate as to what influence her strict yet cultured early life had on the many religious poems and hymns she penned.

Sarah died at the age of 43, shortly after the death of her older sister. Her body was brought back to her family grave in a baptist cemetery in Foster Street. Another of her hymns – He Sendeth Sun, He Sendeth Shower – was played at the service, a fitting end to the poet’s short life.

● Nostalgia would like to thank local historian Ron Bill for providing extensive information for the research of this article.

Pupils in tears

Children at Peterswood Junior School are mourning the loss of their two pet ducks who it is believed were stolen and killed for food. The tearful youngsters were told that Chilly Gilly and Lily were snatched from the moat at Harlow Museum.

Postal hazard

Harlow postmen were bitten by dogs 16 times last year, a slight rise from the 1983 figure of 14 – but none of the injuries were serious. An experiment to cover their trousers with a chemical deterrent failed after dogs appeared to like it.

Casualty closed

MP Jerry Hayes has called for an inquiry after the A&E department at Princess Alexandra Hospital was closed for 36 hours. Patients had to be referred to St Margaret’s and Herts & Essex hospitals because of staff shortages at the Harlow hospital.

Tennis theft

A burglary at Sporttime in Little Walk deprived a tennis player of his ‘John McEnroe’ model tennis racquet worth £110. The racquet, which was in the shop for repair, was replaced with a similar one.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Park-and-ride

TWO weeks ago the Star reported that Harlow Council had agreed to the first ever park-and-ride scheme to run from Harlow Stadium.

However, it has emerged that many moons ago there may have been such a scheme operating in the town.

Local history officer David Devine dug out this photo from the Museum of Harlow’s extensive archive. He believes it was taken outside Harlow Town railway station in December 1983 and was a temporary service just for Christmas shoppers.

Do you know any more about this park-and-ride service? If so, send your memories to daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk or write to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow CM20 1JW.

Creatures of the (UK) countryside

If you thought cows, sheep and horses were the most exotic creatures living in the English countryside, think again!

Scorpions, aardvarks and snapping turtles have all been discovered living wild in the UK.

According to a new report put together by wildlife experts, south-east England is now a hotspot for weird and wonderful creatures, with around 30,000 colourful green parakeets living there.

The same report stated that thousands of 13,000 yellow-tailed scorpions were living in the same area.

The scorpions, which can give humans a nasty sting with their venomous tails, are thought to have arrived in the UK on ships more than 100 years ago.

The Eden Wildlife Report also found there are around 10 Brazilian aardvarks living in the wilds of Cumbria.

Snapping turtles, meanwhile, are thought to have been living in the UK since 1993, and are now found in parts of Kent, London, the West Midlands and West Yorkshire.

It has also been reported that there are wild boar, wallabies and wildcats living in the UK.

STEGGLES, Kit. 9/4/1918 - 30/6/2002. The days flash by like the views from a speeding train, no sooner you reach your destination, you sit back in your seat and you are off again. Remember that speeding train nearly 70 years ago, transporting us to our evacuation town of Rochdale a long way to go, you were breast feeding me with milk turned by the terror of the blitz. I was too young to remember but these memories you told me, and the memories we shared remind me that you cared, and you will always be missed. Love Dick, Michelle, Kevin & Shannon.

STANLEY TIBBS

In loving memory of our dear Dad who passed away a year ago on 30th June.

Awards night for young achievers

A SPECIAL group of 69 young people from schools throughout Harlow took centre stage at a presentation ceremony held at The Playhouse theatre.

They were invited along to receive Jack Petchey Achievement Awards after being nominated by their peers, teachers and leaders.

Seven adults were also honoured for demonstrating in an outstanding way their ability to encourage and motivate young people.

All the winners received medallions and framed certificates, while the youngsters also won £200 for their schools.

Among those who received an award was Christopher Cholerton (19) who was nominated for being a committed member of St Mark's School's peer mentor team and for his work supporting performing arts within the school.

"These awards are a big event in our school and I feel very proud to have won one of them," he said.

Taylor Bovington (14), from West Essex Behaviour Support, won an award for changing his behaviour and taking responsibility for making positive changes.

"Getting this award is a great achievement for me," he said. "I am very proud and it has given me more confidence in myself."

Natasha Stephens (14), from Burnt Mill School, won her award for being an outstanding netballer. She has recently qualified for the England Satellite Programme and will now be trained weekly by England coaches.

"This is a great awards scheme and encourages and motivates young people," she said.

The awards were presented by Harlow Council chairman Sue Livings and Inspector Andy Bray of Harlow Police, who said: "In my experience, both professionally and personally, the vast majority of young people in Harlow are responsible, imaginative and caring members of their community. It is a pleasure to take part in this celebration of their achievements."

The evening's entertainment was provided by students from Burnt Mill School, St Mark's School, Stewards School and Harlow Fields School and College.

The Jack Petchey Foundation was founded in 1999 by multi-millionaire businessman Jack Petchey who wanted to help develop the potential of young people aged 11-25 in London and Essex.

"I am very proud of our awards scheme because it sums up exactly what the foundation is doing, making a difference to young people whatever their circumstances," he said.

To date the foundation has made grants totalling over £60m to schools, clubs and youth organisations.

ABBOTSWELD: Youngsters at the Partridge Road primary school enjoyed a relaxing yoga and meditation session on Monday.

Children's yoga teacher Jo Grant has been taking classes for pupils at schools throughout Harlow since the beginning of the year.

Those taking part on Monday learned about partner postures where they work in pairs while others meditated while concentrating on a stone placed in front of them.

"Most of them have never done the exercises before and are particularly liking the relaxation aspect of them," said Jo, who is pictured with Callum Hutton and Rebecca Marrington.

"The partner posture exercises also help with anti-bullying because the children learn to respect each other's bodies."

ST LUKE'S: Year 3 pupils were thrilled when they received a letter from Buckingham Palace after they wrote to the Queen as part of a literacy project.

The children composed letters to Her Majesty and other famous people during a letter-writing class and then posted them.

To their surprise of they received a response from one of the Queen's ladies in waiting.

It said the Queen was interested to hear that they had been writing letters and thanked them for posting them to her.

The class also received responses from Harry Potter author JK Rowling and Francesca Simon, who penned the Horrid Henry books.

Year 3 teacher Lesley Perkins said: "The children were really pleased to receive the letter and some of the parents couldn't believe it.

"It was nice for them to get a reply that shows that people read what they write. It has made them want to write more letters."

JEROUNDS: Pupils embarked on a culinary tour without leaving the confines of the Pynest Road school's cafeteria when they held their very own world food day.

The youngsters sampled a lip-smacking range of tasty treats from countries including Mexico, India, Ghana, Greece, Japan and Australia while learning all about different cultures.

Headteacher Kath Holland said: "This was a wonderful opportunity for our pupils to learn more about the world while trying out delicious and exotic foods from across the globe!"

RUM TUM TUGGERS:

Dads went back to pre-school for the day when they joined their children for a special Father's Day celebration at the Riddings Lane nursery.

They got their hands mucky during messy play, helped their children make tea and some even had their faces painted as they joined in with a typical afternoon's activities.

Manager Laura Boltwood said: "It was a fantastic day and the dads really threw themselves into all the activities. They had a great time revisiting their own childhood.

"To be honest I'm not sure who had more fun, the dads or the kids!"

Soul Crusaders topping mini festival bill

FORGET South Africa, the real party on the pitch is happening in Sawbridgeworth this Saturday as the town's football club hosts a fun-packed mini-music festival.

Kicking off at the club's Crofters End ground at 2.30pm, the event is expected to attract more than 500 revellers and will feature live music, a barbecue, free children's entertainment, fun sideshows and a fully licensed bar. The music starts at 4pm with local covers band Expose. They will be followed by blues rockers Soft Touch at 6.30pm and then headliners Soul Crusaders who will take to the stage at 8.30pm.

The festival is now in its fifth year and is organised and manned entirely by volunteers, with all proceeds being pumped back into the club to help support the provision of youth football in the town for youngsters aged 6-17.

Tickets for the event cost £8 (under-16s accompanied by an adult can get in free) and can be bought on the day. For more information, call 07762 553924.

Chorus to perform at new Leisurezone

By CHRIS MOSS

AN acclaimed local choir is hoping to raise the roof of Harlow's Leisurezone next weekend when the new sports and leisure complex hosts its first musical concert.

Harlow Chorus will stage a summer spectacular at the centre next Sunday (July 11), showcasing the state-of-the-art facility is capable of catering for the arts as well as sporting events.

The choir will present a varied programme of music, including Carl Orff's iconic Carmina Burana, whose vibrant melodies have graced many a TV advert and paint a decidedly bucolic and earthy picture of 13th century life.

The singers will also perform Jonathan Dove's acclaimed song cycle The Passing of the Year, a modern piece following the seasons from spring to winter, and Bob Chilcott's Songs and Cries of London Town, an affecting mixture of market traders crying their wares and poetic evocation of London's bells. The group's recently-launched training choir, the Harlow Chorus Academy, will appear alongside the full Chorus for the first time during Carmina Burana under the direction of Janet Ruocco.

Chorus member Pat Hodgson said: "Add in our soloists Sally Harrison (soprano), James Huw Jeffries (counter-tenor) and Alexander Robin Baker (baritone), two pianists each with their own grand piano, and Malcolm Ball's percussion group, and the new roof should be well and truly raised!

"Our talented pianists, Susan Graham-Smith and Daniel Hill, will also entertain with Bernstein's Symphonic Dances from West Side Story, a pianistic tour-de-force written for four hands at two pianos. This will be a concert not to be missed!"

Directing and inspiring the musicians will be the choir's recently-appointed musical director, Alexander Chaplin, who is completing his first year in charge.

The concert starts at 4pm and reserved tickets cost £18 (£14 unreserved, £10 concessions, £2 under-16s) from (01277) 362440 or online at www.harlowchorus.org.uk.

WIN Tickets to LINKFEST

FESTIVAL fever hits Harlow later this month as a host of bands line up for Linkfest – and you could rock out for free by entering our fantastic competition!

Set in the spacious playing fields bordering the Great Parndon Community Association in Parsloe Road, the new festival will feature live music, dance, drama, children's entertainment and much more.

And with a line-up that includes raucous rockers The Subways, proto-punk legends Eddie & The Hot Rods and local heroes Popdad, The Ten O' Sevens, Bite and Anthem, it's shaping up to be an unmissable gig.

Co-organised by The GPCA Link Club, The Square and drama school Phoenix, this one-day event takes place on Sunday, July 18. This week the Star has one family ticket (two adults and two children) and two pairs of adult tickets to give away.

For your chance to win, simply tell us which of the following bands is playing at Linkfest:

a) Teddy & The Hot Rods

b) Eddie & The Hot Rods
 c) Freddie & The Hot Rods

To enter, log on to www.harlowstar.co.uk, follow the Leisure & Lifestyle link and click on the "Competitions" tab. Be sure to enter 'Harlow Star Linkfest' in the competition name line or your entry will be discounted.

The judges' decision is final and usual Herts & Essex Newspapers terms and conditions apply. There is no cash alternative. Closing date for entries is Thursday, July 8.

>>GET HIM TO THE GREEK After years of dizzying success, rock star Aldous Snow (Russell Brand) releases an album which is lambasted by critics. Soon after, the singer breaks up with his girlfriend and falls into disrepute in London. During a meeting with record company supremo Sergio (Sean Combs), underling Aaron Green (Jonah Hill) hits upon the idea of a 10th anniversary comeback concert to celebrate Snow's most famous live outing at the Greek Theater in Los Angeles. Despite initial reservations, Sergio eventually agrees and issues his minion with an ultimatum: get Aldous to the Greek in 72 hours.

>>KILLERS If Robert Luketic's action-packed romantic comedy is to be believed, men are capable of hiding everything from their nearest and dearest. Jen Kornfeldt (Katherine Heigl) marries Spencer Aimes (Ashton Kutcher), unaware that he has been keeping a tiny secret: he is an international spy and assassin who retired from active duty but has now been marked for death. Killers is an odd mishmash of genres, veering wildly from action to comedy and back again, sometimes in a single scene.

>>SEX & THE CITY 2 Neurotic writer Carrie Bradshaw (Sarah Jessica Parker) is starting to realise that life after saying "I do" to Mr Big (Chris Noth) isn't everything she thought it would be. Samantha (Kim Cattrall) has moved back to New York and Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) has forgiven her adulterous husband. Meanwhile, Charlotte (Kristin Davis) is struggling to be the perfect wife. By chance, Samantha is invited to the United Arab Emirates to sample the delights of a newly opened luxury hotel and she takes her chums along for the ride.

>>WALL-E In the distant future, a small waste collecting robot inadvertently embarks on a space journey that will ultimately decide the fate of mankind.

>>PERCY JACKSON & THE LIGHTNING THIEF A teenager discovers he's the descendant of a Greek god and sets out on an adventure to settle an on-going battle between the gods.

SHREK FOREVER AFTER (3D & 2D) certificate U 1h33m

THE fourth and final instalment of the computer-animated series puts a fairy-tale spin on It's A Wonderful Life. But Shrek Forever After lacks the heartfelt emotion of Frank Capra's 1946 classic. The adventures of the jolly green ogre have been on a steady decline since the wildly imaginative 2001 original film so it is to director Mike Mitchell's credit that this picture is arguably the best of the sequels.

The film relies heavily on the love we have invested in the characters and their fates, and revisits many familiar faces from earlier chapters including Pinocchio, Gingerbread Man and the Three Little Pigs.

Shrek (voiced by Michael Myers) is suffering mid-life angst with mewling kids and his beautiful and pungent wife, Fiona (Cameron Diaz). Villagers are no longer scared of him and he begins to wonder if life holds any more surprises.

In his hour of desperation, Shrek meets the conniving Rumpelstiltskin (Walt Dohrn) who offers a tantalising deal: he will gift Shrek one whole day as a scary ogre, just like before, if he agrees to sign away one day of his childhood.

Shrek agrees to the Faustian pact, blind to Rumpelstiltskin's devious plan to erase the day that Shrek was born and thereby alter the future.

Suddenly, Shrek finds himself in an alternate universe where Fiona is the leader of an underground movement of ogres, good friend Donkey (Eddie Murphy) no longer recognises him and legendary assassin Puss In Boots (Antonio Banderas) has piled on the pounds to become a lazy house cat. In order to win back Fiona's love, Shrek must join forces with Donkey and Puss to break the pact before the sands in Rumpelstiltskin's oversized hourglass run out.

Shrek Forever After brings the long-running saga to a lively close, reminding each of the characters about the love and friendship which bind them together.

Dohrn's pint-sized, snivelling villain is a colourful addition to the cast and he brings some much needed vim to proceedings. But Murphy is subdued, not that he has a great deal of screen time for his usual scene-stealing antics.

The 3D version exploits the eye-popping format during the chase sequences, but Mitchell's film loses nothing in 2D and children won't have the added distraction of the oversized plastic spectacles.

TWILIGHT SAGA: ECLIPSE certificate 12A 2h4m

BELLA (Kristen Stewart) once again finds herself surrounded by danger as Seattle is ravaged by a string of mysterious killings and a malicious vampire continues her quest for revenge.

In the midst of it all she is forced to choose between her love for Edward (Robert Pattinson) and her friendship with Jacob (Taylor Lautner), knowing that her decision has the potential to ignite the struggle between vampire and werewolf.

With her high school graduation quickly approaching, Bella is confused about the most important decision of her life.

PREDATORS certificate 15 1h47m

ROYCE (Adrian Brody) is a mercenary leading a group of elite warriors who come to realise they've been brought together on an alien planet as prey.

With the notable exception of a disgraced physician, they are all cold-blooded killers – mercenaries, Yakuza, convicts or members of death squads.

Now these human predators are being systematically hunted and eliminated by a new breed of alien killers.

Sporty hybrid is a real livewire

Honda set out to prove that hybrid cars can be sporty and the CR-Z is the result. Steve Walker reports.

Hybrid cars are very commendable but most of the examples we've seen so far have been about as much fun as a stubbed toe.

Do environmentally-friendly vehicles have to forgo any semblance of excitement? Honda says no and backs up its opinion with the CR-Z coupe, the hybrid that people without hemp sandals and a lentil-based diet will want to drive.

With its compact dimensions, two-door layout and wedge-shaped profile, not to mention the distinctively flat rear end with split tailgate glass, the CR-Z looks for all the world like a CR-X for the modern era.

Honda puts its hands up to the visual similarity and to at least some crossover in concept between the two cars. It's pitching the CR-Z as a coupe that combines vibrant looks and thrilling handling with affordability and a real green conscience.

The Honda Integrated Motor Assist (IMA) hybrid powertrain in the CR-Z is based around a 1.5-litre petrol engine with Honda's free-revving i-VTEC variable valve timing technology and 112bhp. It's assisted by a 14bhp electric motor and together they produce maximum power of 122bhp at 6,000rpm with 174Nm of torque at just 1,500rpm.

The 0-60mph sprint takes just over 10 seconds and the top speed is 124mph, so this isn't the fastest compact coupe around.

Where the CR-Z starts to get really clever is with its 3-Mode Drive System. This is basically a way of adapting the IMA hybrid technology according to the driver's preferences.

There are Sport, Normal and Economy modes that are selected through rocker switches adjacent to the steering wheel. They change the parameters of the IMA system, the throttle mapping and the power steering assistance to give greater performance or efficiency as required.

The CR-Z is also unusual in that it matches its hybrid powertrain to a six-speed manual gearbox and anyone who's driven a Civic Type-R or an S2000 will appreciate Honda's record when it comes to great manual shifters.

The CR-Z is loosely based on the chassis and drivetrain of the current generation Honda Insight hybrid but with a series of significant changes designed to make it feel a long way removed from that straight-laced family car. It's shorter and lighter but with a wider track and a wheelbase that positions the wheels right out at the corners of the car for extra poise and balance.

The suspension features aluminium components and damper settings aimed at achieving a firm ride that doesn't become harsh over the bumps.

The low, road-hugging looks of the CR-Z don't lead you to expect a voluminous cabin but the car should be roomy enough for two. It's being touted as a 2+2 but as usual when that old chestnut is wheeled out by a manufacturer, the rear seats aren't much use to full-grown adults.

The CR-Z sits you low down like a good coupe should and presents you with an array of instruments that could have been lifted out of a spaceship as imagined on a 1980s sci-fi show. Chunky controls are mounted within easy reach and displays with bold white fonts shine out from glossy black backgrounds.

The CR-Z is available in three trim levels, starting with S and extending upwards through Sport to GT. In line with the high-tech feel of the car, even the basic model gets features like heated mirrors, daytime running lights, climate control, Honda's Vehicle Stability Assist technology and six airbags. At the very top of the range there's a hands free telephone kit, a panoramic glass roof, xenon headlights, heated seats and full leather trim.

Despite its complex hybrid mechanicals which include a bank of nickel metal hydride batteries mounted beneath the boot floor, the CR-Z weighs in at just under 1,200kg. This relative lightness is a big aid to fuel economy and the official combined cycle economy is an impressive 56.5mpg with emissions of CO₂ measured at 117g/km.

As well as assisting the petrol engine, the IMA system incorporates regenerative braking to charge the batteries using recaptured kinetic energy. Unlike in some hybrid cars, the braking is always done primarily by the CR-Z's powerful hydraulic brakes with the regenerative braking system assisting. This means no reduction in stopping power or brake feel when the system is operating.

The CR-Z is a livewire sportscar with sensible prices that uses an electric motor to make its brand of driving thrills yet more accessible through reduced running costs. We've not seen its like before but we may well see more of the same in the future.

HONDA
The Power of Dreams

HOW DO YOU MAKE A CAR MORE FUN?
YOU MAKE IT FEEL LIKE THREE CARS.

The logic behind the new CR-Z may not be rocket science, but it is Honda science. You see, we wanted to create a hybrid that was also thrilling to drive. Without any compromises. So that's why you'll find three completely different driving modes - Sport, Econ and Normal - for three completely different driving experiences, all in one car. More fun? You do the maths. Speaking of which, prices start from £16,999. Book a test drive today.

Scrap

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Gardner blooms with brilliant win

MOLLY Gardner pulled off an excellent win and claimed two personal bests (PB) times when she represented London North region in the All England Independent Schools Championships at Bedford.

The nine-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member came first out of 14 runners in the 600m.

Molly moved her way gradually from the back of the field into second spot with 300m left and 10m behind the Midland champion.

Over the next 200m Molly closed the gap before a magnificent 100m sprint gave her victory in 2 mins 02.0 secs, a PB by seven seconds.

Her coach John Stow said: "I was delighted with her pace judgement over the 600 metres and really believing in herself."

"Molly is a wonderful youngster to coach and shows such enthusiasm for one so young."

The youngster helped the London North Region 4x75m relay team come fifth. They were in seventh spot until she stepped on the gas in the last leg.

She was also fourth in a PB of 9.6s for the 60m.

RIDING HIGH: Cyclist Sir Chris Hoy, far left, and Jonathan Edwards with youngsters from the South East (s)

Sir Chris is wheel deal at Abbotswood

FOUR-TIME Olympic cycling champion Sir Chris Hoy has given his backing to Harlow's Abbotswood Primary School after officially opening Lloyds TSB National School Sport Week (June 28 – July 2). Abbotswood Primary School is one of 14,000 schools involving five million youngsters from across England that have been taking part in a range of activities, from staging an opening ceremony to athletics, tennis and football.

Sir Chris met more than 350 children from schools across South East London at Eltham Green Specialist Sports College on Tuesday, with further Lloyds TSB ambassadors and former British Olympians Gail Emmis, Jason Gardner and Jonathan Edwards also attending schools up and down the country during the week.

"Hosting the London 2012 Games in Britain provides us with all sorts of opportunities to introduce young people to new and exciting sports," said Sir Chris.

"Events like National School Sport Week are great as they give school children the opportunity to take part in a new Olympic or Paralympic sport for the first time.

"I tried various different sports at school before I found something I loved, and I hope that through events like these we can encourage more children to get involved in sport."

Recent research commissioned by Lloyds TSB has already demonstrated a huge appetite among young people for sport, with 72 per cent of school children in the capital keen to try more sport as a direct result of the UK hosting the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The research also found that despite the enthusiasm, nearly 40 per cent of Olympic sports have never been tried by 90 per cent of children.

Sebastian Coe, chairman of the London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) said: "The fact that nearly 14,000 schools are taking part in this year's National School Sport Week confirms what we witness every time we travel around the UK – that children are excited about trying new sports.

"The enthusiasm up and down the country; increasing levels of participation and overall support for the London 2012 Games is clear, and it is great to see the impact it is already having on school children."

● Lloyds TSB National School Sport Week takes place from 28 June – 2 July. Find out more and help a local school win sports equipment by pledging your support now at www.lloydsbs.com/london2012

In the Club Grade G U-15 male category, Ryan Aviet was third.

Trampolining

Club coach Fiona Tredgett said: "A big well done to all our very young first time competitors Chloe Barnard, Isabelle Skinner, Lily-May Pearce and Emily Stevenson."

'Laur's on our side'

The Harlow manager's main focus is a target man up front. "I have got Chris Ellerbeck, Jeff Hammond and Sosthene Yao but they all play off the last defender," he said. "I would like to bring in a target man but we will have to wait and see on that one."

Harlow open their pre-season campaign with a friendly at Essex Senior League neighbours Sawbridgeworth Town on Saturday July 17.

These are followed by friendlies against Grays Athletic on July 27 and away at Ridgeon Eastern Counties League premier division Leiston in Suffolk on Saturday July 31.

Harlow are also at home to South Midlands League outfit St Margaretsbury on Tuesday August 3.

Memorable run for Jephcott

JAMIE Jephcott produced a memorable run to finish first out of six Harlow Running Club members in the very hilly Stansted 10K road race.

Jephcott clocked a superb 41 minutes and 49 seconds despite the weekend heat.

He was followed home by Pasquale Pellicchia in 47:39, Sean Flynn in 49:06, Janice Page in 56:28, Dave Page in 57:48 and Ron Newton in 64:27.

Meanwhile, at the equally hilly Borehamwood 10K race, John Tennant was first veteran 60 finisher in 41:08.

Injury rules out GB ace Osagie

HARLOW-based middle distance runner Andrew Osagie was unable to compete in the 800m at the Aviva European trials and UK Championships last weekend.

The 22-year-old was ruled out with a hip injury.

Bronze for Tomas ahead of UK Champs

TOMAS Stevens claimed a bronze medal at the East Region Swimming Championships in Norwich.

The 12-year-old from Harlow was third in the final of the U-12 100m backstroke in 1 min 10.57 secs.

Tomas was ranked fourth for the final after achieving a time of 1:10.89 in the heats.

Despite picking up a slight hamstring injury, Tomas went on to swim in the 200m backstroke where he came 12th in 2:40.05. He was also 14th in the 100m freestyle with a personal best (PB) time of 1:05.90.

Tomas is now looking forward to the UK National Swimming Championships at Sheffield in July where he has qualified for the 100m and 200m backstroke.

He qualified for the 100m backstroke at the Hertfordshire County Championships in March where he enjoyed a fantastic swim and knocked four seconds off his PB to get the national qualifying time. He achieved the 200m backstroke national qualifying time at the Hatfield UK Challenge meet in May.

Mixed fortunes for Stort Valley anglers

STORT Valley Angling Society members have experienced mixed fortunes on their last two outings.

Eleven members weighed in a total of 82lbs 11ozs on the Grand Canal at Boxmoor.

Bill Beehan took top spot with 19lbs 9ozs, Kevin Shaw bagged 16lbs 6ozs for second place just over 4lbs ahead of Bob Groom, who came third.

One of the Harlow-based society's favourite venues, Dent's Farm in Norfolk, tempted 27 anglers for the long journey to this lovely Fenland fishery.

They were not disappointed, with a magnificent haul of 349lbs 12ozs netted. Pole fished sweetcorn saw Bob Groom tempt 57lbs 10ozs of bream for first place, Roy Deadman pipped Tony Henson for second place by just 6ozs, weighing in a mixed bag of 23lbs 2ozs. Ryan Head banked 10lbs 2ozs for the junior trophy.

Table-toppers Borehamwood are too strong for Harlow

HARLOW lost 3-0 to top-of-the-table Borehamwood in the Herts Squash League division two.

First string Ian Gould narrowly went down 14-16 before 6-15 and 12-15 losses.

Second string Dan Collison lost his first two sets 10-15, 10-15 before winning a close third set 16-14. However, he lost the fourth set 12-15 for a 3-1 loss.

Third string Keeley Peacock was beaten 8-15, 6-15. She then showed a vast improvement to win the next two sets 15-13, 15-13 but lost the final set 12-15 for a 3-2 defeat.

Harlow second team suffered a 2-1 loss at local rivals Bishop's Stortford in their division four match.

First string Vinh Tram, just back from holiday and not quite match fit, suffered a heavy defeat losing 6-15, 6-15, 2-15.

Second string Peter Izatt won 3-2 (7-15, 15-17, 17-15, 15-5, 15-7).

Third string Richard Lewis was desperately unlucky to lose in straight sets 15-11, 16-14, 18-16.

The previous week the first team lost 3-0 to Tring and the second team beat Chantry (Bishop's Stortford) 2-1.

Jinxed Bowen in horror crash

Birmingham 59, Rye House Rockets 28

agg: 100-82; abandoned after 14

heats - result stands

Premier Trophy, semi-final second leg

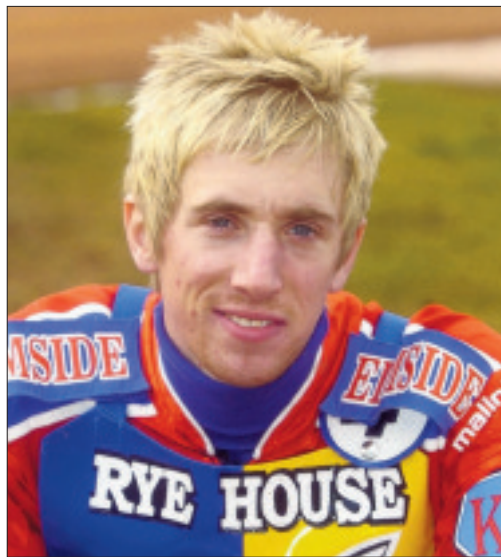

RYE House Rockets are counting the cost of a horror smash for jinxed Harlow racer Luke Bowen.

Bowen, right, is set for a long stint on the sidelines after breaking his arm in what was a disastrous night for the Rockets at Birmingham on Wednesday last week.

Already missing Linus Sundstrom through injury after a heavy crash the night before, the Rockets were forced to operate rider replacement - but with the Swedish star still classed as fourth in the team's averages under the current green sheets, their substitution options were highly restricted.

Rockets were duly well beaten, and Bowen's misfortune rubbed salt into their wounds.

The former Mark Hall School student, who has had his fair share of bad luck when it comes to injuries in past seasons, suffered a nasty last lap fall when third in Heat 5.

He was coming out of the last corner when his bike picked up some grit and lifted.

The meeting was held up for 20 minutes while Bowen was treated, and he now faces a lay-off of at least eight weeks.

Rockets promoter Len Silver said: "It's a big blow, but Luke was cheerful enough. Thankfully it was a clean break."

It all looked good enough early on as race wins for Kyle Hughes, Jordan Frampton - as a tactical six-pointer as early as Heat 5 - and Stefan Ekberg meant the Rockets didn't actually fall behind on aggregate until Heat 10.

By then, though, they had lost Bowen, seen a 5-1 opportunity slip to a 4-2 when skipper Chris Neath was caught out by a rough patch when partnering Ekberg, and had the Swede hit the deck when well set for four points as a tactical rider.

There was no let up over the closing heats, with the hosts securing a 17-7 advantage over what proved to be the final four races.

The meeting was abandoned prior to Heat 15 due to the strict 10pm curfew enforced at Perry Bar, although Rockets will consider that call a small mercy in making a long night slightly shorter.

The Rockets must re-group in the knowledge of Bowen's extended absence.

Robbie Kessler, who has not raced for Rye House since 2007, has replaced the injured Bowen.

Sundstrom was kept in hospital overnight for observation following his spill, but has escaped with severe bruising rather than any broken bones.

Rye House scorers: Jordan Frampton 10 (from four rides); Luke Bowen 2 (3); Chris Neath 2 (4); Stefan Ekberg 4 (5); Lee Strudwick 2 (5); Kyle Hughes 8+1 (7).

Singles KO joy for Green

DAMIAN Green won the Harlow & District Premier Darts League Singles Knockout title for the second year in succession at the GPCA centre.

It was also a second trophy of the year for the Moot House Arrows player who had earlier won the Pairs Knockout competition when he partnered his dad Ron.

Damian also topped the 180s table with 10 recorded and also clinched the Harlow Owls Singles Knockout title.

In the Singles Knockout at the GPCA in Abercrombie Way, his final game was a 4-2 victory over Steve Salter (Tye Green Whites).

Green had beaten James Jennings (Servo Link) 4-2 in the last four (Servo Link) while Salter had a 4-2 win over Ron Yates (Stow Snooker).

The Singles Plate Knock-out was won by Gareth Thomas (Staple Tye Colts) who beat Dan Galloway (White Admiral) 2-1. Thomas defeated Ian Mapple (White Admiral) 2-0 in the last four, while Galloway beat Ian Townshend (Small Copper) 2-0.

Singles q/final results: Dan Wood (Moot House Arrows) 1, Ron Yates (Stow Snooker) 3; Roy Leftwich (Servo Link) 2, Steve Parker (Tye Green Whites) 3; Craig Parker (White Admiral) 2, James Jennings (Servo Link) 3; Dave Galloway (White Admiral) 2, Damian Green (Moot Arrows) 3.

Vintage ton from Shiraz key to win

OPENER Shiraz Ali hit his second century in as many weeks in a comfortable victory over Bishop's Stortford III in division one of the Herts & Essex Cricket League.

In-form Ali, pictured right, hit 12 boundaries during his unbeaten 113 as Town easily chased down Stortford's modest score of 158-8 at Ash Tree Field on Saturday.

Ali was aided by Pat Yates (27) and Jason Gladwin (20 not out) as Town cruised home by nine wickets.

Earlier, Town restricted the visitors to a modest total from their 45 overs with an improved performance in the field with plenty of excellent catches.

Despite the opposition getting off to a flying start, Town were able to pick up wickets at key moments.

Simon Rowell's diving catch at gully off Ashley Alderson's bowling to dismiss opener Michael Edwards for 23 was a pivotal point in the match. Alderson (4-33) and Rowell (4-22) claimed eight wickets between them to set up an easy task for the batsmen on a dry wicket. Ramya Upadhyay (10-4-18-0) also bowled tightly.

Town skipper Vic Goddard said:

Harlow Town won by nine wickets

"They had a flying start but our spinners Ramya and Simon put the brakes on. Simon was the pick of our bowlers. He was turning the ball square.

"It does not happen very often that someone gets back-to-back hundreds and Ali is batting beautifully at the moment. He played very sensibly."

Town are fifth in the table at the halfway point of the season and are 40 points behind leaders Ilford Catholics.

In division three, a half century from Darryl Pettengell could not prevent Harlow Town II (176) from losing to Stansted (177-6) by four wickets.

Harlow Town III's beat hosts Dunmow III's by four wickets in division seven to keep their promotion hopes alive.

Other results: div three Potter Street (270-7) lost at home to Roding Valley (273-9) by one wicket.

Div seven: Potter Street II (295-7) lost at Takeley II (296-6) by 4 wks.

CANONS Brook Golf Club head professional Alan McGinn paid tribute to greenkeeper Mark Paxton following a marvellous pro-am tournament.

Supported by the Star, the greens and fairways were in fantastic condition for the tournament played in almost perfect conditions.

McGinn said: "Once again a special thanks to Mark Paxton and his team for presenting the course in such good order. I have to say that the greens were superb and the fastest surfaces at Canons Brook this year, which really helped my putting. On that note, I had a very poor finish of 5 at 17th and 8 at the 18th. I managed to rebound back off a tree and hit my own bag for a disappointing 79 when out in 1 under!"

Canons Brook member Gary Jarvis his son Ben and ex-member Bernie Cochrane won the team event with professional Jason Levermore, from Clacton, with a score of 14 under.

Completing a memorable day, Levermore won the pro event by four shots with a 6 under par 67.

"The day went really smoothly and thanks must go to Sandra and Jo in the office who organised the administration of the event," added McGinn.

McGinn's team of Tom Breheny, Roy Burt and Ian Angel finished at halfway with 8 under.

Twenty-four teams competed in the event.

'Laur's on our side'

HAWKS boss Kevin Warren is delighted after persuading central defender Laurie Stewart to rejoin the club, writes DAVID RIMMER.

Stewart, left, comes back to Barrows Farm after leaving Zamaretto League premier division club Cambridge City.

He was previously at Harlow Town under Glen Alzapiedi in the second half of the 2008-09 season after the former Ware boss brought part of his squad to Barrows Farm from Wodson Park. Stewart then left Harlow before the start of the 2009-10 season.

Hawks boss re-signs top defender Stewart

Warren said: "He had a good spell when he was here. I thought he coped very well in the Ryman premier.

"If he shows that enthusiasm in the Ryman north he will be one of the best defenders in the league. He will be a very big bonus."

He added: "I kept in touch with Laurie when he was at Cambridge. They wanted to keep him but his circumstances changed."

Warren feels Stewart and Jon

Stevenson, signed earlier this summer from Hitchin Town, could make an ideal partnership in the heart of defence.

"They are both comfortable on the ball and good in the air," he said.

Warren also said he may re-sign defender Leo Roget but no decision will be made until the former Oxford United and Southend United defender has proved his fitness.

Roget played for Harlow under Ryan Kirby during the 2007-08 season and Warren has known him for a long time.

"If he is fit and shows the commitment he can play for us. He had trials at Gillingham last year and has been out of the game for a year," he said.

"He can play in defence but he can also play the holding role in midfield."

Warren has spoken to upwards of 20 players but they may sign for clubs higher up the non-League pyramid.

"Good luck to those players if they can find a club but I will keep my eye out for those that do not," said Warren.

McGarry's joy of six keeps Harlow in second

FORMER Essex quick bowler Andrew McGarry was the star for Harlow in their thumping eight-wicket home win over Old Southendian & Southchurch.

The 28-year-old took 6-21 and his performance gave Harlow total control after Southendian elected to bat when they won the toss on Saturday.

McGarry took the first four wickets as the visitors slumped to 28-4.

The innings' only worthwhile stand came from Chris Bunce and Chris Sawyer who put on 50 for the fifth wicket, before Ahmed Khawaja trapped the player lbw for 18.

Sawyer went on to make 54, receiving some support from Ben Dowse (18) but the lower order was wiped away by Luke Monger (2-25) and McGarry as Southendian were bowled out for 135.

Harlow skipper Jason McNally said: "Andrew just probed all the time and once he got the two early wickets he was on a roll.

"The batsmen has to play at nearly every ball and once you get past five or six, he was just too quick for them. It was good to see. The fielding was also good from the start."

Southendian's small total posed no problems for Harlow. Fresh from his unbeaten century the previous week Rehman Ahmed continued his good form, making 64.

He shared stands of 66 and 52 for the first and second wickets respectively with Nilesh Modhwadia (27) and Khawaja who went on to make 31 not out steering Harlow home along with McNally (12 not out).

McNally added: "Our batting has become a bit more stable in the last three weeks. It's not just a
